The Military

A century passed, and unfortunately Ostroco fell in decay, with sea pirates, coming from the north, pillaging the coast and fearful, unpleasant creatures like gobelins, giants and trolls revolting in the southern Mountains, and in the end there being a civil war, which made King Fredorszich abdicate. The revolutionaries took power, but the new government being so corrupted it finally crashed and made Ostroco plunge in a dark era called the Times of Confusion, Terror and Troubles, where Ostroco got invaded from all sides, with new little states popping up, and tribes claiming new land. But soon a distant relative of the former royal family, called Epreczidak, refounded Ostroco and his descendants – Oszkar I, Czorpad III and Kondor V – took back all of the lost land. After Kondor VI, Czefan I and Kondor VII – King Pavl was the king, who created a union with tiny little states on the borders of Ostroco, and it is said that his era when he reigned was exceptional and prosperous. Kondor VIII created a new alphabet, and a few generations later Queen Klarczenaa took the throne and her reign was full of prosperity and new discoveries. From her, Ostroco became a maritime power, and Kondor X was the King who discovered many new lands over the sea. Ostroco continued to prosper, yet had several wars along the way with one being terrible which caused the country to fall in a famine, but all this ended and so we come to King Arochin II, the present King.

The Civil servants

Ostroco has a unit of people who each carry out a specific function. For example, there are the Mountainous Hunters, rather similar like the Chasseur Alpin, who do not hunt at all but are just there in the mountains making border patrols and rescuing people from any monster, or if people are in danger whilst being in the mountains. There are also the firemen of Ostroco, who are situated in cities and towns and villages, and carry out the job to stop any accidents such as fires or floods that happen, and they also carry out the job of rescuing people and getting them to a place rather like a hospital where they cure the people. There are also in cities – and only in cities and large towns – special people who collect all of garbage, which in Ostroco normally comprises of food, bottles, paper and furniture. The police does not exist in Ostroco, and it is a special unit of military personelles who carry out the job of guarding places, doing border patrol and keeping order. Yet, the most famous of all is the E.D.B – Ostroco’s famous equivalent of MI6 – which stands for Eczornac Deczeroc Bardoczov, whose exact translating can not be translated. It has always lurked in the shadows of Ostroco, though only recently had it become official, though it comprises of espionage units with many agents being send abroad, and they become very active during war time.
